CONDENMED

Jeffersontown and Middletown Schools Sanitary.

County Board of Health Orders That the Buildings in their Present Condition
Must Not Be Used.

The members of the Jefferson County Board of Health have been busily engaged for some time in seeing that all public institutions and school buildings, in the county were in the proper sanitary conditions which is in compliance with the law governing such matters.

At a recent meeting of the Board,
the report of the unsanitary condition of the school buildings, ordered that these buildings, as they are now, shall be made as will meet with the approval of the County Board of Health.

Failure to comply with the orders will subject the County Board of Education to the pain and penalty of the law.

The school buildings referred to above are a disgrace to communities like Jeffersontown and Middletown.

You will find in these towns refined and cultured citizens, but instead of working for an improvement in their home schools, many of them send their children to the city schools, withdrawing their patronage and influence.

It is time something is done—it will have to be done. When the report is spread broadcast over the country that Middletown and Jeffersontown schools are condemned on account of unsanitary conditions, it will hurt these communities and give them a set-back that it will take years to overcome. These two towns are healthy and the citizenship is composed of good people as you will find anywhere, but the schools have been sadly neglected. The people are now thoroughly aroused, however, and it is believed that not only Middletown and Jeffersontown will build good school buildings, but that modern district schools will soon be built all over Jefferson county.

Pleased With The Jeffersonian.

Cairo, Ill., Jan. 23, 1911.—In a recent issue of your excellent paper,
The Jeffersonian, and which I have been reading since coming here
as pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran church, I observe that you are offering a special bargain subscription offer for a few days only, viz: The Louisville Daily Herald and The Jeffersonian, both one year for $2.75.

Surely this is a very good subscription offer, so knowing a good thing
when I see it, I am going to ask you to continue sending me The Jeffersonian—your progressive, up-to-date and clean and excellent county paper;
and without flattery, as one who has merely worked at the printing business, let me assure you that it is one of the best printed and neatest papers that I have seen.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stivers, of this city, are spending the winter in Europe, so I want you to continue sending it to me, besides send me the Louisville Herald, as you agree to do, for $2.75.

Herewith please find U.S. money order for same and, thanking you in advance for the favor and bargain, I am, Yours truly,
W. L. BURGER.

LUNCHEON

To Be Given To Members of Commercial Club
Monday Night—Election of Officers.

At the regular meeting of Jeffersontown Commercial Club next Monday night, February 6, at 6 o'clock, an election of officers will be held. An elegant luncheon will also be served to the members who attend.

For the first time in the history of the exception of the meeting last month, very little has been done by the club, but it is hoped that new life will be put into the organization and that after the election of officers Monday night great things may be accomplished during the present year.

W. J. Semotin is chairman of the committee that is preparing the lunch for Monday night, and he says it will not be any "coca cola affair" like the one that was imposed upon the members some time ago. Consequently, every member should come, especially to get something to eat, to eat, but to have a voice in the election of officers.

BREVITIES

New Cottage.

Miss Anna Gelhausen has completed a nice little cottage on the Gelhausen farm, where she will make her future home.

Unique Sermon Subjects.

At the Jeffersontown Christian church next Sunday Rev. T. S. Tinsley, the regular preacher, will discuss the following subjects: Morning, "What Brother Stay-at-home Thinks is Wrong With The Church"; Evening, "What Jeffersontown Young Women Consider An Ideal Young Man." Two weeks later these subjects will just be reversed.

School Committee Meeting.

A meeting of the Rural School Development Committee of the Commercial Club will be held Saturday afternoon, at which Mr. E. R. Sprowl will preside. Mr. J. B. McMullan, who originated the idea of a rural school conference, is chairman of this committee, but Mr. McMullan is in Florida at present. Matters in connection with the state-wide conference will be discussed.

Ways to make the winning start—Car A. H. Hause.

How the race is to be run—Paper, Miss Pet Wisheart.

Solo—Miss Margaret Harris.

The obstacles of the race—Mr. J. C. Alcock.

A clear and certain knowledge of the goal—Mrs. Arch Bridwell.

The Citizens of Jeffersontown.

The Board of Trustees will have to call the citizens' attention again about throwing ashes and filth on the public streets and alleys. Which, all the citizens of Jeffersontown know, is against the laws of the town.

The ordinance reads as follows: "All litter and filth of any kind shall not be thrown on any street or alley, or any violation of this ordinance shall be subject to a fine of not less than five dollars for each and every offence, and we hope the town marshal will act according to law."

CHAS. BURKHARD, Chairman.
T. E. LITTERER, Clerk.

Entertained.

Buechel, Jan. 30.—Mrs. L. Fegenbush entertained a jolly party of young people Sunday in honor of her grandsons, Raymond and Freddie Boss. Among those present were Raymond and Freddie Boss, of Lyndon; Harry Kline and W. Thorne, of Louisville; Smith Handley and Arthur Lyons; Misses Stella and Lulu McKeag, Villa Park; and George Fegenbush. It should be mentioned the principal feature of amusement, as most everything was tried during the day. Am sure that every one enjoyed Ray's performance on the piano, which was unusually good, even for Ray, who plays well at all times. Judging from the constant laughter and the severe struggles for possession one would think the sofa pillow game very amusing. We heard that the sofa pillows were turned over to the laundry immediately after our departure. Well boys and girls, we are only young once and here is hoping that we may all meet in the very near future and spend another good day together. **

A Scrap With An Eagle.

Hosler and Hughes Horn had a most thrilling experience with a large eagle Sunday afternoon at their home on the Dry Branch pike about five miles from town. They had gone to the pasture to drive up the sheep for the night, and were astonished to find the eagle at work on the carcass of a lamb which it had evidently killed. The bird was so large that they were afraid to molest it, and started a flock of sheep to ward the lamb, but the eagle seemed to resent the taking away of his quarry, as his appetite was evidently not satisfied, and he left his feast and flew over the flock of sheep several times before lighting among them. Then he would rise and fly toward the men, sometimes only four or five feet above them. When this had occurred some four or five times, the eagle showing very plainly that he did not intend to let the flock of sheep go, the men, after a fight, the two men hurried to the road and secured a shotgun. On their re-appearance in the pasture the eagle, a shrill cry, rose in the air and ed toward them, when Hosler and the king of the air fell at his feet.—Harrington Herald.

Triumph Running Out.

Colombia, Tenn., Dec. 22.—S. E. Colander & Co., in peak condition, has its second crop of triumph potatoes in Maysville county said: "The second crop of triumph potatoes, as has been the case for several seasons past, were almost a failure, there not being over one-fifth of the usual crop. Sorely the scepter has departed from Israel. Maury county in the days gone by with three hundred or four hundred cars of second crop triumph potatoes was somewhat of a factor in the potato world, but now it is nothing but a shadow." The day before was more other than the King. The Kaiser pardons the scepter.

"I can remember distinctly the first time I ever saw this potato dug here. In one field it was making seventy-five barrels of shipping stock to the acre and just across the way one-hundred barrels, but now fifteen to twenty-five barrels to the acre is considered extra good yield. The Maury county farmers still stick to the triumph and consequently make no potatoes. They claim that the Maury county soil will have nothing else, so here we go getting worse every year."

—Article from The Packer.

The Girl and the Kaiser.

Seldom has Miss Lulu Glaser been seen or rather heard (for the fact must not be forgotten that she is now a prima donna) to better advantage than as the forester's daughter in "The Girl and the Kaiser," the Viennese operetta in which the Misses Shubert will offer her and a large company of singers at the Shubert Masonic Theatre, February 8th and 9th. Being Viennese one naturally assumes that the piece is imported. Such is the case. Under the title "Die Forster Christ!" in German, it was given for a year at the Irving Place Theatre, New York, winter before last. The Shuberts decided to give it a hearing in English and this happy inspiration culminated in a delightful realization in November last at the Herald Square Theatre.

The scenes of the play are laid in ancient Vienna in 1760. The first act pictures the exterior of the lodge of the imperial forester on a summer morning. The Kaiser, José II is hunting. Some one in his party accidentally shoots the pet fawn of the forester's daughter.

A. S. OF E.

Hold Interesting Meeting at Bruce Hall Monday Night—Col. Young and Mr. Cushington Speak.

One of the most interesting meetings of farmers ever held took place at Bruce Hall last Monday evening under the auspices of the local union of the American Society of Equity. Col. Young and Mr. R. M. Cunningham were the speakers of the evening and both gave much valuable information to the large crowd of farmers in attendance.

Both gentlemen are interested in horticulture and dwelt upon the subject of fruits, etc.

They advocated scientific methods of raising fruits and the organizing of farmers for their own protection in marketing other products.

They gave many remedies for combating the various diseases of fruits and their properties in eradicating them.

They said that Kentucky fruit has a better flavor than that of other states, but that our growers need to be educated upon the way of caring for the trees. This may be done, they said, by getting the farmers together where they could give their experiences.

BACK TO THE FARM.

Secretary Wilson Seeks The Cause of Exodus to The Cities.

Secretary Wilson of the Department of Agriculture, is trying to learn why the young people leave the farm and has sent a list of questions to the township correspondents, says the Toledo Blade.

There are many theories to account for the desertion of the land, some of them rather strange.

Mark: Because machinery has made farm work monotonous and taken away the zest and rivalry of skill and strength; because railroads have made the traveling easy; because the human mind finds life more endurable under the discipline and routine of the town than upon the farm, where initiative and resourcefulness must constantly be exercised.

In deed, there has been a production of theories and quite respectably with the corn and wheat crops. Any one with a fountain pen is entitled to manufacture ideas along this line, and there is no difficulty whatever in getting them published. Secretary Wilson is going out after his facts before he draws his conclusions, though the questions we cite indicate that he has some glimpse, some understanding of at least an important cause. The lack of social life appears a more practical reason for the desertion than hard work and unsatisfactory incomes. For there is hard work in the cities, terrible work for some in every city, and the question of income is a daily worry and problem to thousands of urban households.

When the secretary has gathered his data and published his findings it might be well for him to attack a new puzzle—why not country-trained and-bred folk in the cities go back to the country? It is known that the larger percentage of them become unhappy, dissatisfied, do more poorly in the towns than they would have done upon the soil. The success of country boys in the cities has broken into literature—principally juvenile literature—until it has almost been taken away from the cities.

They said that Kentucky fruit has a better flavor than that of other states, but that our growers need to be educated upon the way of caring for the trees. This may be done, they said, by getting the farmers together where they could give their experiences.

If the secretary can reach the people from the country it would be interesting, if not of immense importance, to learn if it is pride or poverty that drives them to the cities.

If it is pride, if it is force of routine, if it is caution, the fear to take chances as to livelihood, if it is hopelessness, if broken health or tyrannous habits. To keep the young people upon the farm really should be no more a thing desired than getting the young people back

A Holstein cow, Princess Carlotta, owned by the Missouri experiment station, gave last year 18,400 pounds of milk, which, with the 618 pounds of butter fat made therefrom, contained more human food than is represented by the 1,000 pounds of grain fed to the cows, the average weight of the cows being 1,250 each. The quantity of milk in question contained a total of 2,216 pounds of dry matter, as follows: Protein, 502 pounds; fat, 618 pounds; sugar, 929 pounds; ash, 128 pounds. As the carcass of a 1,250 pound steer is 56 per cent water, each would represent 548 pounds of dry matter. In view of such a milk yield as this, one can readily appreciate that a cow of this size, fed a diet slightly organized and sensible, and her ration, both as to composition and quantity, is a most important matter.

Onion Sets.

From the time of harvest there has been a mistaken impression here and everywhere in regard to the amount of onion sets raised here. The fact is that Kentucky raised an extremely large crop of onion sets. This is not true. We made a very careful canvas of all the onion sets raised here right after the harvest. This is the only time this has ever been done here, and the canvas showed that we had much less sets than any of us believed. Since that time as the crop has been hauled in by the grower it has proven to be the case in each and every instance that the estimate made by the grower has been that Kentucky raised an extremely large crop of onion sets.
